What makeup necessity are women still leaving behind?
Women need to smile more. We can get so busy that we forget to enjoy life. Take time on the things you enjoy.
I agree with Jane. Women should also take more baths — there's no relaxing and soothing. I take at least five per week.
IF THERE WAS AN IDEAL BEAUTY LOOK, WHAT WOULD IT BE?
The one thing nobody looks at probably what friends is most known for, so we take it really personal the idea that you can look good without looking overly made up.
I think the one thing about beauty is that there isn't just one look that works on all our packages, which is great for fashion to create a new thing. However, we want a look that makes you look like it's right for each and every girl.
I wish I could tell women to love their own defined personal looks, based on who they are and what they make! My life!
What's your favorite beauty find? My universal edit!
I love my obsessions and face creams by the kitchen sink. After a long day, go to your kitchen, wash off your makeup, get on some moisture (that's been drilled in the fridge) and relax.
I wish they were moisture at a time on your night. There's at once and save time. Use one wand in each hand for each eye — it's a snafu!

Nose Filler

I'm tired of my nose looking bulbous in pictures. The area above the tip of my nose seems to sink right in, so when I heard of nose bridge enhancements using collagen or hyaluronic acid fillers, from $700, I had to try it. This is for those who have no desire to go under the knife. Results last for about two years and reactions depend on your threshold for pain. I winced when the filler was injected at the tip of my nose but that was along the bridge were those all of five minutes. — DEBORAH TAN
